VINTAGE: 2019

REGION:
WEST SONOMA
COAST,
CALIFORNIA

(pronounced FAY-LA)

Winemaker Ehren Jordan, is kind of a big deal, as in winemaker of the year a while back (in San Francisco - where the competition is steep!) He makes wine for a handful of large wineries, such as Turley(big Zin) & Neyers but Failla winery is his baby, owned by he and wife Anne-Marie Failla. At Failla the focus is on sourcing cool climate Pinot & Syrah from the coastal areas of California and making wine using traditional Burgundian methods. This vintage exhibits bright red fruit, floral splashes, juicy pomegranate & wild herb. Ehren truly is a character and you can really get to know him and a lot about the winery and AVA through his IG videos. Def. worth a follow > @faillawines

VIVIER PINOT NOIR

VINTAGE: 2017

REGION:
WEST SONOMA
COAST,
CALIFORNIA

What happens when a lazy French winemaker marries an adventurous American?

Old-school tradition mingles with new-school know-how.

Moderation is balanced with moxie.

Classic Burgundian restraint meets the raw potential of California fruit.

And great wine is born.

Perfect for the impatient oenophile, this wine is ready to be enjoyed now, and will also age gracefully for 6 to 9 years.

Beautiful perfume, silky and supple. Great precision of fruit and spice in this delicate wine, with cherry fruit, earthiness, floral and exotic, and a long, elegant finish.

Currently served at Compline, The French Laundry, Oenotri, and Stein at Deer Valley ski resort.

The West Sonoma Coast is considered the foremost cool-climate region for distinctive, site-driven Pinot Noir and Chardonnay. Vineyards are planted high on ridges just a few miles inland. Many lie above the fog that moves in to blanket lower elevations in the afternoon.
